"With patriotic pride we review the life of our Washington, and compare him with those of other countries who have been pre-eminent in fame. Ancient and modern names are diminished before him. Greatness and guilt have too often been allied, but his fame is whiter than it is brilliant. The destroyers of nations stood abashed at the majesty of his virtue, it reproved the temperance of their ambition, and darkened the spiendor of victory. The scenes closed, and we are no longer anxious lest misfortune should sully his giory; he has traveled on to the end of his journey, and carried with him an increasing weight of nonour; he has deposited it safely, where misfortune cannot tarnish it—where malice cannot blast it. Favoured of Heaven, he departed without exhibiting the wears ness of humanity; magnaninous in death, the darkness of the grave could not obscure his brighiness.

heard argument in one case.

In the list of opinions handed down there are five cases from the district of Bastorn Virginia, over which Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., spesides. It is noteworthy that in every one or these cases the appellate court affirmed the judgment of the lower court. This record is but the more notable by reason of the fact that several of the other judges were reversed. The opinion of the court in two cases is prepared by Judge Waddill. It is worthy of mention also that in the admiralty case of the steamship Svenland, appellant, vs. Jens Thompson, from the District Court at Norfolk, Judge Goff, in delivering the opinion of the higher court, affirming the District Court, quotes almost the entire opinion of Judge Waddill in the case, and adopts it as the language of the scurt.

Among the cases decided yesterday are several of local interest. In the case of Barcus and others vs. John B. Sherwood, the issue involved is the right of Attorney Sherwood to his fees in the Barcus-Gates case. Mr. Sherwood is well known in this city. The appellate court decides in his favor.

In the case of the Newport Nows and Old Point Rallway, plaintiff in error, vs. Avery Yount, the appellate court affirms the judgment of the District Court. Yount was a soldier at Fort Monroe, and was injured while fiding on a car of the plaintiff in error. The decision of the court is a victory for two well known Yirginia autorneys, Messrs. Robert II. Talley, of this city, and Daniel Coleman, of Norfolk. Some of the polnis raised by Mr. Talley and his associate were the grounds for the opinion of the court.

POLITE YOUNG MAN

Milk Dealers Were Fined by Justice John-Police Court

A young white man was fined $25 in the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of annoying young girls on the street.

The specific charge was that of pulling the ribbon from the hair of a young girl on her way from school. The girl complained to a policeman, who kept his eyes open, and in a little while another report came to him of a young man answering the same description, who had committed the offense of offering his umbrella to a young lady who happened to be caught out in the rain. She resented the courtesy, and the policeman arrested the young man as a suspicious character. When the young fellow was brought before the court he denied that he pulled anybody's ribbon, but the denial did not satisfy the Wise Guy on the bench, and he was assessed the fine for trying to be too polite. He said he did offer a young lady the use of his umbrella, but he thought it was a lady whom he knew. The case of Joseph Harris, charged with shooting John Whitman, went over to March 2d, and witnesses were recognized to appear at that time.

Josh Lynch was fined $10 on the charge of beating Lizzle Schreier, and he naid the fine, after some little argument. The case arose over a charge preferred against Lynch by the girl, who is a witness in the case of the negro woman, Della Haynes. She said the man attempted to choke her, and also threatened her. The man denied that he did anything of the sort.

Two cases of saie of impure milk came before Justice John yesterday. One was against F. F. Rennie and Compiny, and the other was against Charles Dandridse. The case of Rennie was disposed of first, A fine of 110 was placed against the firm, and an appeal was taken. Mr. Rennie had made every effort to show that the milk was of standard quality, and had had the milk tested at various times, so as to come within the law. A letter from experts was introduced to prove the statement in reference to the matter: the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of annoying young girls on the street.
